The Judges

Karl Leck

First published in the Pittsburgh Press in 1965, Karl has photographed as a freelancer on every continent for more than 50 periodicals, many books and advertisers. He has photographed six summer Olympic Games from 1976 through 2000. Now retired professionally, he pursues fine art photography juried shows, gallery exhibits and teaching. He is currently Print Director of the Delaware Photographic Society and the Wilmington International Exhibition of Photography.

Laurie Peterson

A commercial photographer and non-silver printmaker, Laurie lives in Philadelphia. Following a career as an in-house photographer at The Eastman Kodak Company, she opened her own commercial business. Currently, she teaches non-silver photography at The University of The Arts and runs gum bichromate workshops. Her work is in collections of The Eastman School of Music and other institutions, as well as many private collections. She is also featured in a soon-to-be-released book.

Barbara Warren

Barbara is a local photographer whose images have taken numerous awards in juried art shows, including several top awards in the Phillips Mill Annual Juried Photography Show, Perkins Center of the Arts Photography 35 show, the Marsh juried Photography Show, the Robert Ransley Juried Art Show, and Chairman's Award at the Philadelphia Sketch Club. She was published in Black and White Magazine as a Merit Award. Her work can be viewed at www.barbarawarren.com

* * * * *

Each judge viewed all 235 entries entirely in one viewing, divided by category, separately and independently from the other judges, and rated each entry anonymously on its merit within its category with a score from 1-33 points. No judge had any influence upon another since they were scheduled at different times. Points were totaled after the final judging, determining standings, with 99 points as the highest possible score. Best of Show is the highest scoring print overall.

Kirsten Becker of Churchville Nature Center chose the Director's Award independently from any scoring. The contest Coordinators likewise selected the Chairmen's, Ernie Volpe, Tony DiMattio, and Creative Achievement awards independently.
